

The Derek Bovington Memorial Loan Fund makes possible occasional small loans to students who need money to complete work already begun at the College. The fund is not intended for loans to entering students.

OTHER FINANCIAL INFORMATION

No student may enter or remain in residence while financial arrangements for the current year are pending.

A new Financial Agreement must be signed in advance each year the student remains in the College, and must be supported by the regular non-refundable prepayment. The College reserves the right to alter individual fees from year to year in the light of changed circumstances.

Physicians' services and special medicines must be paid for individually.

For personal expenses students should have $50 to $90 each semester exclusive of transportation.

The College is not responsible for loss, theft, or damage to students' property arising from any cause.

SUMMER SESSION

In addition to the fall and spring semesters of the regular academic year, the College conducts a summer session in July and August of about eight weeks. Its regular winter faculty is augmented by a Guest Faculty of men and women highly distinguished in their fields who are otherwise engaged during the winter. Along with academic courses, the curriculum provides for workshop groups, discussion groups, and individual work, as well as special projects such as, in 1949, the plan to build a new Science Laboratory.

The summer session offers an excellent opportunity for a short period of intensive work and experimentation in stimulating, congenial surroundings. It also affords an opportunity to observe the process of education in the setting of a community. As a rule, some of its summer students apply for admission into the following terms of the regular academic year.
